

Light Lemon Coriander Soup with Sautéed Vegetable Options

A light, hydrating, flavorful soup designed as a gentle first meal after fasting. Pairs beautifully with crispy low-carb focaccia or flatbreads.

Base Soup Recipe

Ingredients:

- 1 tsp olive oil or ghee
- 1 tsp grated ginger
- 1–2 green chilies slit (optional)
- 4 cups water
- Salt to taste
- Freshly crushed black pepper
- 1 tsp roasted cumin powder
- Juice of ½ to 1 lemon
- ½–¾ cup chopped coriander leaves and tender stems

Optional:

- Pinch hing
- Few curry leaves
- White pepper for restaurant-style flavor

Method:

1. Heat oil or ghee.
2. Add ginger, green chili, curry leaves, and optional hing.
3. Sauté gently for 30–60 seconds without browning.
4. Add water, salt, pepper, and roasted cumin.
5. Simmer gently for 8–10 minutes.
6. Turn off heat and add coriander leaves/stems and lemon juice.
7. Cover and rest 2–3 minutes before serving.

Flavor Enhancement Without Vegetable Stock

Easy ways to deepen flavor without broth or stock:

- Extra coriander stems while simmering
- Roasted cumin powder
- Crushed black pepper
- Pinch hing for savory depth
- Curry leaves sautéed in ghee
- Tiny splash soy sauce or coconut aminos (optional)
- Mushroom powder if available
- Celery leaves or stems while simmering
- White pepper for restaurant-style flavor
- Tiny drizzle olive oil or sesame oil before serving
