

Low-Carb Badam–Kaju Barfi (with Almond & Cashew Flour)

Ingredients

- ½ cup almond flour (Costco or fine-ground)
- ½ cup cashew flour
- 3 tbsp ghee (clarified butter)
- ¼ cup unsweetened almond milk (see substitution options below)
- 3–4 tbsp erythritol / monk fruit / stevia blend (adjust to taste)
- ¼ tsp cardamom powder
- Few saffron strands (optional)
- 1 tbsp chopped pistachios (for garnish)

Method

1. Heat 1 tbsp ghee in a nonstick or heavy-bottom pan on low flame.
2. Add almond flour and cashew flour. Roast gently for 2–3 minutes until fragrant (do not brown).
3. Pour in almond milk and sweetener. Stir continuously to avoid lumps as the mixture thickens.
4. Cook for 5–7 minutes on low to medium heat, stirring often, until it comes together like soft dough and leaves the sides of the pan.
5. Add remaining 1–2 tbsp ghee, cardamom powder, and saffron. Mix well.
6. Transfer to a greased plate or parchment paper, flatten evenly to ½ inch thickness.
7. Sprinkle chopped pistachios on top, press gently, and let cool for 15–20 minutes.
8. Cut into squares or diamonds once firm.

Substitution Options for Almond Milk

- Half-and-half: Use 3–4 tbsp instead of ¼ cup almond milk. Cook 1–2 minutes longer to thicken properly. Gives a richer, creamier, softer texture.
- Heavy cream: Use 2½–3 tbsp heavy cream + 1 tbsp water. Cook on low heat and stir constantly. Results in a luxurious, melt-in-mouth barfi. May need slightly less ghee.

Tips

- If the mixture feels too dry, add a spoon of almond milk or cream; if too soft, cook slightly longer.
- Use a silicone spatula to prevent sticking.
- Add a drop of rose water or kewra essence for a festive touch.
- For firmer barfi (especially with cream), chill 30 minutes before cutting.
